PRIMARYWING

April 4, 2012: Felicitation for Regularity - Grade III:

Regularity is a trait appreciated in all walks of life. We, at Mind Tree aim to make this trait an integral part of our students' personality. Those with 100% attendance in 2011-2012 earned a special pat on their back and were duly felicitated.

April 13, 2012: Special assembly on Baisakhi and Ambedkar Jayanti:

Baisakhi - The harvest festival of north India is celebrated as Baisakhi every year. We too joined in the merry making of our farmers. Students dressed in colourful dresses presented an array of songs and dances to mark the occasion. Our children also paid their homage to the architect of our constitution Dr. B.R. Ambedkar whose birth anniversary was on 14th April, 2012. A student's talk, briefly sketched out his life history and achievements.

April 13, 2012: Calligraphy Competition - Grade III:

We judge a book by its cover. Similarly various aspects of a man's persona are revealed through his handwriting. We lay utmost emphasis on handwriting. A neat hand is indeed a delight to the eye and our students excel in this art. The best calligraphers were:

April 20, 2012: Special Assembly on Earth Day:

A special assembly was held on Earth Day. The slogan, "Catch them young" proved to be true. It was quite evident how serious and focused the kids were regarding preserving their earth. The three speakers emphasized the measures which can be adopted to save our earth. A dance presentation by the young children was the icing on the cake.

April 21, 2012: Roll the Mat and Spelling Bee Competition - Grade 1:

An interesting race for the first graders was planned and executed. The enthusiasm of the kids knew no bounds as they ran speedily towards their mats, folded them and reached the finish line. Indeed, a smile on everyone's lips was worth the effort. The winners are:

	1st	2nd	3rd
I	Divyansh Budhiraja - I D	Suhana Mittal - I D Akshra Ahuja - I C	Mannat Arya - I B

On the other hand, students showed their errorless work which was a delight both for the writer and the reader. We not only polish the oratory skills of our students but also make them proficient in producing flawless written work through Spelling Bee Competition.

April 27, 2012: Special Assembly on Punctuality:

Punctuality is the key ingredient for the recipe of success. The students of Grade III-A made this fact amply clear through an engrossing dance presentation - "The story of colours". The well enacted presentation re-inforced the importance of being punctual. It was immensely liked by everyone and they learnt the lesson too - ALWAYS BE ON TIME.

April 28, 2012: Balancing Race - Grade III:

Focus and concentration go a long way in one's life. Teaching the kids these through race was our endeavour. It was refreshing to see the kids focused and concentrating as they balanced the book to the finish line. The kids who excelled are:

May8,2012:EducationalV isit-Gradell-III:

We strongly believe that visuals are permanently etched on one's memory. To give our students first hand experience of the types of plants, conditions of their growth and to tell them how to take care of these plants, a trip to the Herbal Park was planned. This exercise proved fruitful as kids related their newly acquired knowledge to real life.

May11,2012:Special AssemblyonMother'sDay-Gradell-III:

Mother - a living god was paid glowing tributes on the occasion of Mother's Day. Poems, speeches, songs, skits and dances, all presented the fact that a mother has no comparison and no equal. At the end, the students had warm affection in their eyes, silent prayers on their lips and a firm resolve in their hearts to say, 'I Love U Mom', in the real sense.

May18,2012:Special AssemblyonDiscipline-Gradell-III:

Discipline in all walks of life is required to achieve the best. It is a quality inculcated in our childhood and is polished in our temples of learning. A mathematical activity proved this. Each English letter was assigned a value from 1 - 26 and when DISCIPLINE was added up, the total was 100%. This presentation by II graders was applauded by one and all.

May19,2012:Elocution-Gradell-III:

Young speakers baffled everyone with hard facts coupled with heart felt conviction in their eyes. The elocutors chose the topics of great concern and the currently hot ones too. They laced their speeches with facts, quotes and couplets. It was indeed a delight to watch them speak with conviction, both in their demeanour and words. The winning orators are:

SENIORWING

March31,2012:OrientationProgramme:

As is customary, the new session 2012-13 was heralded with the Orientation Programme. Eager parents tramped in, met new teachers and were apprised of the teaching, learning methodologies and the techniques which would be adopted in the new session. The parents' doubts and queries were satisfied and they left with the assurance of their wards being in safe hands.

April2,2012:CommencementoftheNewSession:

With a spring in their tread, confidence and enthusiasm in their hearts, the Mind Tree children decked in their smart new uniforms strutted about the school campus and were a sight worth beholding. Hugs, back thumping, congratulations and exchange of pleasantries reverberated in the school corridors while the desire to do better than before gleamed in the eyes of both the staff and the students. For class IV children, stepping into Senior Wing was a major achievement they had been looking forward to.

April13,2012:MindT reeTurns'One':

"The measure of greatness is not the number of servants you have, but the number of people you serve"

The completion of the first year was celebrated with zeal and feasting as the school proved its worth with the achievements of students and appreciation by parents.

It was a celebration time. A special assembly was conducted where children and teachers alike gave vent to their joy and appreciation. Songs, speeches and poems were recited. With prayer on their lips and renewed enthusiasm to lead the school to greater heights, the children enjoyed sweets and refreshments.

April 13, 2012: Special Assembly on Baisakhi and Ambedkar Jayanti:

Punjab has always been vibrant with colours and its joys and festivals are infectious. This was exquisitely depicted in the general assembly conducted by the students. The speech, folk dance and song performed by the students enthralled all.

April 14, 2012: V is it to Chandigarh Literature Festival 2012:

An informative and enchanting afternoon was spent at Chandigarh Law Bhawan Sec 37- A, by the students of Mind Tree (VI to IX). They enjoyed the session held with the upcoming authors. Annie Zaidi, kick started the show which was forwarded by a number of interviews conducted by authors, journalists and other prominent personalities. Micro-Fiction and autobiographical-stories were some new terms which the students were acquainted with. The festival proved to be a good start for the year. The students returned with a burning desire to read more books.

LABOUR DAY

May 1, 2012: General Assembly:

To imbibe in the students the dignity of labour and respect for the workforce, 'May day' was celebrated to honour the dedicated workers. Saraswati Vandana was followed by an enchanting classical dance presented by VI - IX graders. Budding anchors of the school, Harit Jaiswal (VII B) and Vaibhav (IX) conducted the show. In a hilarious but creative way, a quiz was conducted for the worker staff, who were entertained with innovative questions. Quite an entertaining family scene was depicted through a skit, showing the different approach and ideas of people towards the society. The programme ended with an address by the Principal with a note of appreciation for all the workers of the school and by presenting them with some gifts. The hardworking staff left, cheerful and cared for.

May 10, 2012: Science Field Trip - Grade VIII:

A speculative and experimental trip of science students was taken to Dera Bassi, Beer factory - Shivalik Beverage where they got good information about fermentation and the process of converting the product into a liquid form, ready to drink. Pasteurization of beer was practically seen.

May 10, 2012: Special Assembly On Mother's Day:

Mother's love has always been a thing to cherish but today's materialistic values have changed the entire concept of mother-child relationship. This was very aptly depicted by the students of class VII-B in their play enacted on 'Mother's Day'. They emphasized the need to change the attitude and be concerned and caring to God's divine creation - 'Mother'.

May 19, 2012: Collage Making Competition - Grade VII-IX:

As fast as man is growing in his virtues, so are the disasters made by him. Man-made disasters and their consequences were highlighted by Grade VI-VII students. To highlight the burning issue of female foeticide, students of Grade VIII-IX brought forth their emotions and impressive ideas in the form of beautiful collages they made, which emphasized the importance of saving girl child to save humanity and to increase the female ratio.

EDUCATOR'S CORNER

April 20, 21, 2012: Workshop on 'Practical Scientific Skills' being taught in the natural surroundings:

Knowledge imparted in the practical way is always beneficial and is remembered for a long time. This was the theme of the Science workshop conducted by CEVA for classes IV - IX. Teachers polished their skills, so as to enrich students with latest technical aspects of science.

May 10, 2012: Workshop on Theatrical Skills - Grade VI :

Theatrical skills are always a good way of expressing one's emotions in front of the audience. This was successfully implemented with class VI students during the theatre workshop organized by CEVA. Students made their own puppets and masks, wrote their own dialogues and presented their stories in a very interesting and impressive way. The result was wonderful. Puppet displays were enjoyed and appreciated both by the staff and students of all classes.

May 26, 2012: P.T.M. and Maths Workshop:

An interesting end to the first term was the P.T.M., where all parents met the teachers and learnt about the performance of their wards. A maths interactive fun-filled session was conducted by CEVA. Quizzes, puzzles and games kept the children occupied, while the parents talked to the teachers.

Keep Waiting and Anticipating

The Mind Tree F.M Station headed by Mr. Rohit is to be launched shortly. It would be a hub of activities where recordings are in progress for the residents of Ambala, to enjoy the latest happenings and interesting facts.
